

— THE STORY OF NOAH KELLOGG —

In 1885, a gentleman by the name of Noah Kellogg, a gold prospector and carpenter, lived in the town of Murray, just 20 miles northeast of Kellogg. Down on his luck, he ran around town looking for someone to give him a grubstake. He ran into two businessmen, Mr. Peck and Mr. Cooper. They loaned him a jackass to carry tools and enough money to buy grub.

Noah started down the great North Fork of the Coeur d'Alene River, headed south over the mountains, came out on the South Fork, crossed the river and went further south up Milo Gulch. He ended up about 1,000 yards above the present City Hall of Wardner where he made camp, ate, and went to sleep. During the night his borrowed jackass wandered off. In the morning he heard her braying way up high on the hillside. Where the animal was standing he saw sunshine glittering on a huge outcropping of galena (lead ore). And that was the discovery of the great Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mines.
